

ABSTRACT

An adjustable fire control for firearms having a series of adjustable engagement settings between the sear and the trigger, including a trigger engagement adjustment including a preset engagement and an adjustable engagement for setting the amount of displacement of the trigger with the sear for firing the firearm.